

57,000 Reasons to Ban Live Animal Exports

Should Animal Cruelty Be One Of Our Top Exports?

Australians Say No!

Australia's live animal export trade is a horror story. It's also a story of profit at any cost. Each year tens of thousands of Australian sheep and cattle die agonising deaths from heat exhaustion, starvation, illness and disease whilst being shipped overseas.

Those who survive the long journey have their throats cut whilst fully conscious; a practice that is not accepted in Australian abattoirs. And yet our federal government still issues permits for our animals to be exported.

Animals Australia is grateful to the many members of Australia's farming community who are courageously supporting calls for an end to the live export trade.

A Message for Prime Minister Howard

Australians won't tolerate an industry that causes suffering to millions of Australian animals each year. We will not tolerate abandoning our animals to countries with no legal protection. Australians do not agree that profit for some can ever justify the misery and suffering of many.

Australians don't support this billion dollar brutalizing of our animals. We won't accept the damage that the trade is causing to our international reputation.

The Cormo Express provides 57,000 reasons why Prime Minister Howard must end the live export trade and get out of this cruel business for good.

Please tell Prime Minister Howard how you feel about live export!
